SUMMARY

I'm a student in my final year of application development, deeply passionate about web design and marketing. I've proactively pursued entrepreneurship by founding my own student company, specializing in web design and marketing solutions. This venture has not only sharpened my technical and creative skills but also provided hands-on industry experience.

Outside academics and business, I prioritize a balanced, healthy lifestyle, exemplified by my regular gym attendance. This commitment extends to discipline, time management, and self-motivation, qualities I've cultivated through my fitness routine.
